Gen. Spragins To Address AUSA Spring Dinner Meet

A member of a distinguished Huntsville family who recently completed 25 years of military service and now resides here will make his first public speech since retirement at the Spring dinner meeting of the Tennessee Valley chapter of the Association of the U. S. Army on Wednesday, March 29th.

Brig. Gen. Robert E. Spragins, until recently commander of the U. S. Military Group in Argentina, will speak on the Army's activities in South America at the dinner in the Redstone Arsenal Officers Club, it is announced by William T. Weissinger, chapter president.

Brig. Gen. Spragins is the son of the late Maj. Gen. R. L. Spragins of Huntsville. His mother resides here, and he is a nephew of M. Borne Spragins, chairman of the board of the First National Bank and of Mrs. James F. Watts and Mrs. W. E. Spragins.

Brig. Gen. Spragins was born at Fort Slocum, N.Y. and was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1939. He holds a master's degree in international affairs from George Washington University and is a graduate of the Command and General Staff College and the National War College.

He served in Hawaii, Australia, New Guinea and The Philippines during World War II as an infantry commander. He has been a faculty (See GEN. SPRAGINS on Page 3)

Personnel Receive Acclaim

For the second consecutive year Redstone personnel have been acclaimed in recognition of their outstanding achievements in support of the Combined Federal Campaign.

A congratulatory message was received by Gen. Zierdt last week from John W. Macy, Jr., chairman of the U. S. Civil Service commission, expressing thanks and appreciation for the manner in which the military and civilian personnel of the Arsenal responded to the annual appeal for funds to support the many humanitarian endeavors of local, national and international organizations.

The message was appropriately endorsed by Stanley Resor, Secretary of the Army, Gen. Harold Johnson, the Army Chief of Staff, and Gen. Frank S. Besson, Commanding General of the Army Materiel Command.

Each of the endorsements and the original message expressed thanks and appreciation to Gen. Zierdt for his outstanding leadership in the once-a-year fund raising effort, which according to Gen. Besson, represented an "unqualified success."

Redstone personnel joined together to establish several records in the drive held last fall. Over 95 per cent of the assigned strength took part in the campaign and contributed the largest total gift in the shortest period of time for any drive of this type in the Huntsville area.

Hawk System Development To Continue

A $3 million contract for continued research and development on the Improved Hawk air missile has been awarded to Raytheon Company, Lexington, Mass., weapon system prime contractor, by the Army Missile Command.

Under the improvement program the 16-foot-long solid-propellant missile is being given increased defensive capability and reliability against attacking aircraft in the field Army environment. Work covered by the latest contract will be performed at Raytheon's plant in Bedford, Mass.

Hawk is in operation with Army and Marine Corps units overseas and in the United States. The (See HAWK on Page 3)

4TH TRI-SERVICE TARGET MISSILE CONFERENCE HERE

The 4th annual Tri-Service Target Missiles R&D Conference met last week at Redstone Arsenal under the sponsorship of the Army Missile Command's Research and Development Directorate.

Some 50 Navy, Air Force and Army agency representatives attended the two-day meeting.

Its purpose was to provide the services with the opportunity to exchange information of their development programs for target missiles and ancillary equipment.

Among the subjects discussed were electronic countermeasures, radar reflectivity enhancement, target tracking systems, infrared augmentation devices, tow targets, and formation control of targets.

The guests were welcomed to Redstone by Brig. Gen. Clarence C. Harvey, Jr., Deputy Commanding General, Air Defense Systems. Jere D. Ducote, Chief of the Target Missiles Branch, Development Division, is conference chairman.

A. A. Stewart Receives Meritorious Service Award

For more than twenty years Redstone officials have had one response to almost every problem involving Army logistics. Their way of tackling a troublesome situation is to "Call in Double A."

Double A just happens to be the familiar countersign of A. A. Stewart, Deputy Director of the Supply and Maintenance Directorate since the U. S. Army Missile Command was created in 1962.

Last Friday, Stewart won the Command's acclaim for his long years of distinguished service when Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Army Missile Command, presented him with the Department of Army's decoration for Meritorious Civilian Service. This is the Army's highest award for civilian service that can be awarded by the Commanding General, U. S. Army Missile Command.

The Supply and Maintenance Deputy was cited specifically for his meritorious performance of duty during a five-year period commencing January 1962.

Stewart was honored for his exceptionally distinguished service to the Department of Defense as a top-level executive in logistics management of the Army's extensive missile materiel.

He was recognized as having developed and provided the technical and management leadership that has resulted in the Directorate overcoming a continuous succession of problems affecting the national defense posture and the economic status of this country.

In bestowing the honor on Stewart, General Zierdt said, "Your sound judgment and technical knowledge is reflected in the many management decisions you have made affecting the Army's missile program."

A veteran of 32 years civilian service with the Federal Government, Stewart came to Redstone in 1946 as civilian chief of the supply division after having served in similar capacities at Camp McCain, Miss., and with Headquarters, Third U. S. Army.

University Offers Scholarships In Huntsville Area

Fifteen scholarships will be awarded to 1967 high school graduates in Huntsville and Madison County by the University of Alabama Huntsville Foundation, Patrick W. Richardson, Foundation President, announced.

Winners of these scholarships, which carry a stipend of $600 each, will attend the University of Alabama in Huntsville as full-time students beginning in the fall of 1967.

Selections will be made by the individual high schools in keeping with criteria established last year by a committee of Foundation members and school officials. (See UNIVERSITY on Page 3)

Logistics Chief Tells Redstone Staff 'Cost Reductions Do Not Just Happen'

Echoing the words of Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus R. Vance, Lt. Gen. L. J. Lincoln told approximately 400 Redstone people last week that, "Cost reductions do not just happen; they must be caused."

The Army's Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics was at Redstone on Wednesday to kick-off a concerted drive to re-emphasize the Cost Reduction Program aims and objectives. "We cannot wait for them to fall," he added, "we have to shake the tree."

In his talk at the Rocket Auditorium, Gen. Lincoln, who is also the Army's Cost Reduction Program director, reviewed briefly the outstanding success that has been attained throughout the Army in past years and pointed out "what needs to be done if we are to continue our record of successes."

The General opened his remarks by restating the objectives of Cost Reduction. "The primary objective," he said, "is to improve management and operating practices at all levels... and to stimulate management improvement actions which will insure the achievement of requisite military capability at minimum cost."

TALK ABOUT COST REDUCTION—Lt. Gen. L. J. Lincoln, Deputy Chief of Staff for Army Logistics, and Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Army Missile Command, discuss the Army's program for cost reduction during Gen. Lincoln's visit to Redstone Arsenal last week. Gen. Lincoln talked to approximately 400 program officials, outlining the Army's cost reduction goals. The meeting was held at the Rocket Auditorium.

The Redstone Rocket

The Redstone Rocket is published weekly, on Wednesdays. The publisher will receive editorial content for publication in the Rocket only through the Information Office, Army Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal, Ala., 35809 Bldg. 5250, Room A-136, Extension 876-1400 or 876-1500.

All advertising copy and payments therefor are received by Mrs. Vergie Robinson, P. O. Box 346, Huntsville, Ala., 35804, telephone 534-4701, as representative of the publisher. Advertising deadline—both display and wanted—is noon of Friday before publication.

The Redstone Rocket is distributed free of cost to personnel at Redstone Arsenal. Mailing rates off post for the Rocket are $6.36 a year, or $3.50 for six months, tax included. Mailing arrangements may be made with the publisher, P. O. Box 520, Huntsville, Ala. 35840.

EXCLUSIVE RECOGNITION—(Left to right): Everett Brouillette, President of Local Lodge 1858, American Federation of Government Employees, Maj. Gen. John G. Zierdt, Commanding General of the Missile Command, and Jack McConaha, Civilian Personnel Officer for the Missile Command, review the letter of exclusive recognition presented to Brouillette. The letter entitles Local Lodge 1858 of the AFGE to represent approximately 7000 Missile Command eligible employees. Presentation was made on Friday.

SMALL BUSINESS ASSISTS—Jeff Darwin, right, Army Missile Command Small Business advisor, and James N. Lemons, spokesman for the Elk River Development Agency from Tennessee, talk over small business opportunities last week when 15 agency representatives came to Redstone. The visitors come from nine Tennessee counties and are concerned with job development and training to upgrade the standard of living for persons in their area.

FROM THE CHIEF OF STAFF:

In this issue let's talk about instructions. Anyone who has tried to tell a friend from out of town how to drive to his home realizes that a course of action clear to one person may be difficult to explain to another. In other words, an instruction may be complete and reasonable, but still not clear to the person who is to carry it out.

Giving instructions appears to be such a simple act that it shouldn't present a significant problem, but believe it or not many of our best laid plans are often upset by faulty directions. Sometimes the supervisor himself hasn't thought through exactly what it is he wants done. Sometimes he fails to tell subordinates all that is on his mind. An able subordinate often learns to guess what his supervisor wants, but there is always the chance that the wrong assumption will be made. If the supervisor leaves certain aspects of what is to be done to the judgment of the worker then he should not hold the worker to an exact standard of performance.

As a supervisor, always remember the other person. Don't slip into the error of giving an order without considering it from the point of view of the person who has to carry out the instruction. Get into the habit of putting yourself in the position of that person and then asking if compliance is reasonable. If the job is new or difficult try to put the instruction in writing. Then follow up. Employees like to know if they're on the "right track." Without follow-up, employees may postpone or be indecisive in performing the assignment. This is the ZD method of instruction.

"The second, and quite important objective," he continued, "is to demonstrate to Congress and the American people that we are seriously attempting to control costs wherever possible."

There are few programs in the government that offset the image of waste-making as effectively as the Cost Reduction Program, he told his audience. "The examples of good hard savings brought about by our loyal workforce create a very favorable impression in the minds of the public," he said.

Cost Reduction was implemented by the Department of Defense at the outset of Fiscal Year 1963 and during the ensuing four years the Army was credited with savings of almost $5 billion. The Army objective was far exceeded each year and Army personnel led all other services and defense agencies.

A number of very significant changes were instituted for the present year and the late receipt of the revised procedures necessitated cancellation of the report for the first quarter of the year.

This resulted, according to Gen. Lincoln, "In our busy people turning their efforts to other tasks." The first half results reflect this situation with less than five per cent of the annual goal having been reported.

If the Army is to reach the goal for FY-67, "We will have to have $199.4 million in new savings between now and June 30, or over 95 per cent of our goal," the program director added.

"We have to get going again," he said, "on a job that is not an easy one. If we are to continue our record of successes, we will have to stimulate as much support of the program as we possibly can.

"We have to recapture the enthusiasm and drive we had when the program first began. I personally think that the reportable savings have been or will be made,"

A civilian employee at Redstone for several years, he formerly served as an Ordnance Corp Officer with the Army.

Survivors include his wife, Elaine Bloomberg; two sons, Coe and Stephen Howard Bloomberg; two sisters and three brothers.

he added, "It is a matter of reporting them."

"You, as top managers," he told the MICOM personnel, "play a major role in the program and are a key factor in helping the Army to meet its goals. Most of our savings are made in the field, and they do not happen very often by accident.

"They must be systematically searched out, documented and reported if we are to receive the credit," Gen. Lincoln emphasized.

He called on the Missile Command managers to take the initiative in returning the Cost Reduction Program to its previous high degree of efficiency.

"The motivation," he said, "for seeking, documenting and reporting savings at the grass-roots level must come down from the top—from you. The manner in which you support the program will determine the extent of participation in the field."

Chief and Chief of Redstone Depot preceded the designation of the Arsenal as the center of missile and rocket development. Stewart continued to rise in the field of Army logistics and in 1957 he was named Executive Assistant to the Chief of Field Services Operations and a year later became Deputy Field Service Program Director for the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency.

Following the combining of the Army Rocket and Guided Missile Agency and the Army Ballistics Missile Agency, he was named to his present position. His tenure as Deputy Director has been interspersed with numerous periods of serving as Director at times when no military Director was assigned.

The stature that Stewart has attained in Government service is complemented by an equal level of achievement in Huntsville Community activities of professional, religious, and civic nature, where "Call in Double A" is also frequently heard and readily understood.

Stewart is a native of Collins, Miss, and currently resides with his wife, the former Elizabeth Chamblin, at 2418 Henry Street, Huntsville.

Wives Club Fashion Show Features Gay Color

Almost 300 members and guests of the Redstone Officers Wives Club saw Spring fashions during the March lunch at the Redstone Officers Open Mess Tuesday, Mar. 7.

The Ballroom was decorated with a fashion display on stage, massive mock dogwood blossoms in oversized bowls, and string Easter eggs containing bright scarves and jewels centered the lunch tables. A bouquet peeked from an egg at the foot of the speakers stand. Luscious yellows, pinks, oranges, blues and greens created a festive banquet of color. A bright hat display stood to one side of the stage.

The clothes themselves were equally bright. One of the gayest creations was a pale pink cocktail outfit — miniskirt and minipants embroidered in pearls and sequins banding the hemlines of pants and skirts and neckline of the high fronted bodice.

Electrifying shades of oranges, pinks, blues and greens dominated large flowered prints in the at-home and lounge wear.

Stripes and plaid were used together in a coordinated suit of steel blue. Hats ranged from confections of flowers to the simplest with broad brims or rollers in fine straw.

Dacron and linen dominated the knit wear for daytime. Tents and shifts depended on material for time-o-day wear. Casual clothes were accented with ear rings so bags and hats on display. Accents were colored ribbons, stiffened and shaped to hold bright jewels and scarves in the Easter-egg contoured interiors.

DRAMA IN BLACK AND WHITE—One of the most striking outfits shown in the Dunnivant show for the Officers Wives last week was this dramatic black and white culotte. The basic white, accordion pleated garment had black crepe panels which formed the upper part of the bodice and fell to the ankles front and back.

large and bubbly, they are hung over the ears instead of screwed or clipped on.

Culottes in all lengths were in evidence, the most impressive being a white, accordion pleated crepe with a black bodice which extended into ankle-length panels front and back, a boon to high stepping dancers.

Seaside was teamed with linen knits in suits which featured three pieces — jacket, shell and skirt. Skirts were easy with box pleats, accordion pleats, or a slight fullness of cut at the hemline.

Little girl fashions were modeled by Lora Jersey, daughter of LTC and Mrs. Donald G. Jersey. Two very practical outfits were modelled by Lora — a Huck Finn length overall with striped knit top and a navy blue coat over a white pique with embroidery on the high rise bodice.

Models of the clothes and accessories from Dunnivant's were members of the Wives Club. They included Mrs. Sterling Abernathy, Mrs. Lee W. Eberhardt, Mrs. Charles Peters, Mrs. John P. Kirkland, Jr., Mrs. Eugene S. Totri, Mrs. Kenneth G. Martin, Mrs. William E. Lynn, Mrs. Gilbert G. Stein, Mrs. Manuel Flores, Mrs. John D. Christian, Mrs. Joseph R. Hopkins, Mrs. Robert L. Hill and Mrs. Robert W. Mungovan.

Caprice did the coiffures and Merle Norman the makeup on the models. The event was directed by Mrs. J. N. Jean, wife of the Arsenal Support Operations Director, with wives of members of the Director's staff serving on the committees, Mrs. A. O. Wiklund (See FASHION SHOW on Page 6)

CASUAL AND GAY—One of the most striking culottes in the hostess collection shown by Dunnivant's at the Wives Club Fashion Show proved to be this culotte suit, patterned in vivid splashes of green, orange, and red on big flowers and leaves. Dangle earrings were worn with many of the costumes.

Coast Guard Holds First Huntsville District Meeting

The Spring Conference of the Second District of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary ran Thursday, through Saturday, at the Carriage Inn in Huntsville.

The Second Coast Guard District includes 21 states (Alabama, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, Kentucky, Ohio, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Indiana, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Mississippi, Colorado, Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota with headquarters at St. Louis, Missouri.

The Auxiliary is a non-military volunteer organization, acting within the sphere of the United States Coast Guard's civil functions. The Auxiliary emphasizes safe boating practices by offering public education courses on boating, assisting in search and rescues, examining pleasure boats to be sure each meets legal requirements and awarding an annual decal there for, patrolling at boat races and regattos, and the like. The Spring Conference, being held for the first time in Alabama, is being hosted by local Flotilla 61, which is commanded by Colonel Scott Fellows of NASA.

Business sessions were held Friday and Saturday, except for time out for a tour of Marshall Space Flight Center.

At a dinner on Friday evening, the visitors were welcomed to Huntsville, and ranking officers presented with certificates by Joe Davis, in Mayor Hearn's absence. The Conference concluded with the Commodore's Ball Saturday night.

A NEW, HIGH-SPEED weather communications circuit linking North America and Europe opened on Jan. 17. The new circuit, linking the U. S. Weather Bureau's Suitland, Md., center with Offenback (Frankfurt), Germany, is expected to revolutionize the exchange of weather information between the two continents. Capable of voice, Teletypewriter or pictorial transmission, the circuit replaces a line which carried only teletypewriter messages.

GIRL SCOUT HONOR—Marcia La Reau has a God and Country badge pinned on her Girl Scout uniform by her mother, Mrs. LaReau, while Chaplain (Maj.) Robert E. Johnston, and Mrs. Frederick Neidemeyer, Leader of Troop 396 watch. It took Marcia more than a year of research and working with the pastor of her Protestant Denomination to earn the badge. The ceremony took place at (Girl Scout Sunday) services at the Post Chapel. Marcia is the first to earn this honor at the Arsenal.

READY FOR EASTER—Little girls and big girls were represented in the Spring collection. The clustered posies on the big girls hat contrasts with the straw roller the little one plans to wear in the easter parade. The big girls' dress is of easy-care polyester, the little one's of white pique. The latter has its own overcoat in navy blue.

$4.5 Million Cost Plus Chaparral Contract Let

The Army Missile Command has awarded $4.5 million to the Aero-nutronic Division of the Philco-Ford Corp., to definitize a letter contract for $3.5 million issued last October. The $8.1 million Cost Plus Incentive contract covers continued development work on the Chaparral air defense guided missile system.

Work funded by the contract will be performed in company plants in Newport Beach and Anaheim, Calif.

Chaparral is an infrared heat seeking missile system mounted on the highly mobile XM730 self-propelled vehicle. The missile system is being developed to meet an Army requirement for a forward area air defense weapon.

One of two weapons selected by the Army for arming air defense battalions, Chaparral is to provide

Who Will Be Redstone Cage Champion?

Meet Opens Path For Full Intramural Athletic Slate

Just how tough are the Redstone military basketball teams? Are the Army civilians better than their counterparts in the Marshall Space Flight Center when it comes to tossing the ball through the basket?

For the first time these questions will be answered on the basketball floor with a tournament at the Post Gym starting next week.

Six teams, two from each of the leagues, will go at it in a double elimination tournament starting March 21 with the winner becoming the undisputed Redstone Arsenal champion for the year.

Sponsored jointly by the Special Services Office, the Civilian Welfare Fund Council and the Marshall Athletic, Recreation, and Social Association, the tournament is believed to be the first attempt to bring all Arsenal agencies together in intramural athletic competition. In so doing, it is hoped that the meet will become the forerunner to competition in various activities in the future.

The tourney will open on Tuesday evening with a double header starting at 6:30. The first game on the opening card could very well pit a pair of unbeaten giants together.

The School Troop Command Headquarters Company five is scheduled to meet the winner of the CWF league. STC ended their season with 22 straight wins while Documentation has yet to taste defeat in eleven games. However, the latter has not yet completed their

All-Sports Take Commanding Lead

The All-Sports Trophies all but wrapped up the Comp Center Mixed Bowling League title last week with four weeks yet to go on the schedule.

The Trophy Makers moved out to a full six point lead by whipping the Lucky Strikes three out of four while the second place Skunks were being dealt a 3 to 1 setback at the hands of the Bad Gnus.

Wayne Spruell was over 200 twice and wound up with a 578 in setting the pace for the leaders. He got a big helping hand from Sue Todd with a 546. Jim Traglia was high in the losing cause.

The Skunks got a 544 from Wilton Whigham but it wasn't enough as Norma Street posted a new high total for the league's gal bowlers with a 555. She had a 206 game in her string and Whigham hit a 215.

In other matches Gene Matthews paced the Spares to a sweep over the Hits 'n Misses with a 575 and the Alley Cats took three out of four from the Spares.

Waldrup Hot, But Not Quite Enough

Two little old pins were all that stood between Eddie Waldrup and a place on the weekly bowlers Honor Roll in the STC League last week. The Headquarters No. 2 ace put together games of 204, 183 and 211 for a 598 total.

His efforts provided the margin for a 3 to 1 win over B Company No. 2. But the single point that was lost kept the Seconds from tying the Headquarters firsts for the league lead.

The 7th ETC took a single game lead over the two Hqs outfits into the week's action and came out of it in third place after being forced to settle for a split with C Company No. 2.

The Headquarters Firsts made the most of their big opportunity by sweeping all four points from 6th ETC as Chuck Butler felled 559 sticks.

John Kaspar shot a 580 as the C Firsts took all four from the Marines and Jerry Wiener turned in a 570 reading to help A Company take three from the B Firsts.

The only other sweep of the day was claimed by 2nd ETC at the expense of the 4th ETC kегlers.

tourney play and has yet to earn a place in the meet.

The second game will match the Military Police against the Test Fab Fireballers from the Mars League.

The RPL Quantum Jumpers captured the MARS League championship and will get their first taste of tournament play on Wednesday evening when they take on the winner of the MP-Fireballer affair. The second game on Wednesday will pit the CWF runner up against the winner of Tuesday's second game.

The STC team raced through 18 straight regular season games without a loss and then added four wins in the playoff. They have a well-rounded team featuring the dead eye shooting of Bob Murphy and the excellent floor play of back court stars, Bill Lenzi and Len Castillio.

Rebounding is another strong point of the STC game with Bill Flynn and Dewey Hicks providing most of the strength. Ron Lawrence is the sixth man and he has proven to be very capable under the basket or on the outside.

The Military Police got off to a slow start this year but came on strong in the tournament and bowed only after giving STC a pair of tremendous struggles. They operate from a disciplined type offense and a tight zone defense that twice held the high scoring champions to less than 50 points.

Doris Chatman has been their leading scorer most of the year with Danny Croghan giving him a great assist in recent games.

The Jumpers won 14 out of 16 in the strong Saturn league and then added the post season tourney crown with a final game win over the Scramblers. The latter outfit was unable to make the Post wide tourney and was replaced by the No. 3 team.

Gary Arnett led the Jumper attack with a 17.6 per game average with Russell and Harrison each

Two-Gun Assault Too Much For Mob

Tom DeLoach and George Earle teamed up to give the Black Jacks the lead for a clean sweep win over the Squirrel Hill Mob in the MMCS Officers League last week.

The sweep along with a split between the leading Rounders and the Hubs boosted the Jacks to within a pair of points of the top. The Swags also profited from the split by winning three from the Bad Gnus and the Rocket Rollers took all four from the Satellites.

DeLoach had a 204 game and totaled 562 while his team mate had a 546 with a 200 game. Bill Fogel had a 210 game in the losing cause.

The league leaders got a 533 from Milt Fogle and a 526 from Rob Percy but had to share honors with the Hubs whose Bill Kelley shot a 530.

Jerry Whitaker had a 213 and a 535 in leading the Swags and John Harris had 213 and 545 for the Satellites.

Angels Regain Lead In Ladies League

The ever changing standings of the Thursday Morning Ladies League went through another reshuffling last week with the Angels grabbing sole possession of the lead and the Bowling Bags falling all the way to third place.

The Angles moved out front with a sweep over the Queen Pins while the Bowling Bags dropped three out of four to the Do Nothings. The Rare Spares jumped into the runner up slot by splitting even with the Four Hopefuls.

Stella Oakman paced the Angels to their sweep with 487 and Ann Wiener shot a 499 to set the pace averaging in double figures. The team exhibited a potent scoring punch with a 61.4 average while holding their opposition to 46.8 per game.

Ten-Pin Tap Robs Fred Stewart Of 300 Game

Fred Stewart got off to a slow start in the Field Services bowling league last week, and he didn't exactly finish on the run either. But the strikes he put together in between were something else.

The Guided Muscle ace had a 165 in the first game and a 157 in the final sandwiched around a rousing 279 for a 601 and the only Honor Roll count of the week.

In that middle game Fred opened up with a pair of strikes and then had to settle for a ten-pin tap on a perfect hit in the third frame. After sparing he went the rest of the way with nine more strikes.

His 601 together with a 598 by Ray Harelston gave the Musclemen to drive for a clean sweep win over Loeb's Barbecue. Harelston shot a 246 in the third game and the Musclemen turned in a 2978 total pinfall.

Banner TV enjoyed a rather productive night of their own and outscored the Musclemen by six pins but had to settle for a 3 to 1 win over the Misfits while the league leading Bramblets five was taking it on the nose, with a 3 to 1 loss to the Keglers.

Bill Lasewicz paced the TV men for the Hopefuls. Madelyn Hailey led the Spares with 467, and Lu Belt was the Bowling Bags' leader with a 457.

Most of the pin-spilling occurred in the week's final match between the Tipsters and the Splatter Pins. The Pins got a 519 from Nancy Bond and a 517 from Marie Steele but were only able to win one point and split another as Doris Pound turned in a 496 effort for the Tipsters.

with 580, Mike Shuput hit for 568, Bill Couch had a 552 and Bill Haight collected 540. Jim Watson shot a 583 in the losing cause.

Bill Fickling led the assault against the leaders with a 547 while Billy Tippins went him one better for Bramblets.

Paul Kellogg is not one of the league's top average bowlers but he wasn't about to let a little thing like that hold him back. Kellogg qualified for an ABC Century patch in the first game by firing a 258 game and went on to total 580 for the Satellites.

The Bombers, after finally taking over the top slot last week, let the rest of the AMC League know that they have no intentions of giving it up. Their clean sweep over the Tigers coupled with the Ramblers 3 to 1 win over the Tow Boys, stretched the Bomber lead to three points.

Walt Heflin continued his return to form with a 557 in leading the Bombers to their win and Gerry Keagy added 530 to the cause.

The Ramblers had to struggle all the way for their three points with Hal Williams in the lead with 538.

Jim Kyzer tied Heflin for the individual lead for the night to provide the Stars with an even split with the Skippers and Ray Wernle knocked over 535 sticks as the Rejectors took all four from the Packers.

CRUCIAL DUEL . . .

Accountants Battle Documentation

With the field reduced to four teams, the CWF basketball tournament reaches the crucial point tonite when Documentation puts their unbeaten record on the line against the strong Finance and Accounting quintet.

The two rivals have each won a pair of tourney starts in the double elimination meet and the winner will be guaranteed a spot in the finals set for next Monday. The game is set for 6 at the Council School gym and will be followed by a clash between the winners of Monday nights double bill.

Documentation has posted eleven straight wins in league and tourney play including an 82-76 overtime win over the Accountants and will be favored to continue their string of wins.

However, the Accountants are still not ready to admit that they are second placers and will be out to prove it by squaring matters with the regular season winners.

Neither of the challengers were pressed in winning their first two games. Documentation took Intelligence and Security, 74-54, and Data Processing, 69-53. The Accountants knocked off Logistics, 65-46, and continued on against Project Roads, 57-45.

The latter team had started tourney play with a 39-34 win over the Comp Center. In the second round I & S sent Supply and Maintenance to the sidelines with a 62-54 setback and Logistics dropped out of contention after losing to the Comp Center, 57-35.

Project Roads took on I & S and the Comp Center met Center Data Processing in the Monday night encounters with the two losers bowing out.

Greg Bogue tossed in 22 points and Bob Hubbard hit for 18 more in leading Documentation past I & S. Ken Huntsinger paced the losers with 18 and Gene Turner added another 15.

In the second round Dennis Vaughn and Jim Bunnell took over the scoring leadership for the regular season champs with 18 apiece while George Davis and Joe Stover collected 14 each for Data Processing.

Charles Williams led the scoring and Dave Carter set a play making record in the F & A win over Logistics. Williams counted for 16 points, one more than Elliott Agee and Danny Franklin while Carter was credited with 15 assists as he consistently set his team mates up for easy shots with his passing and dribbling artistry.

George Whitaker led the losers with 18 and Al Maddox got 10 more.

Williams got 20 points in the win over the P & P team and Elliott Agee added 18 more while Bill Bagby was high for Project Roads with 12.

Bill Rencher, Bagby and Leon McDaniel combined to get the Roads team off to a winning start in a hard fought duel with the Comp Center. They collected all but five of the team points while Ken Johnson shot 24 through the hoops for the losers.

Johnson's scoring antics kept his mates in the running later in the week when he tossed in 23 as Logistics dropped their second strait. Al Maddox led the losers with 11.

John Stanford won an individual duel with Dan Chepkas as he led I & S to their win over S & M. Stanford collected 22, two more than Chepkas was able to get for Supply. Bill Bentley added 17 more in the losing cause.

Top Executives To Hear Talk On American Negro

Dr. Vivian W. Henderson, a nationally known authority on the economic status of the Negro in America, will speak to top executives at Redstone Arsenal next week on "A Historical Perspective of the American Negro."

Dr. Henderson's talk is scheduled for the Rocket Auditorium on March 22, starting at 10 a.m. His audience will include top military and civilian officials from the U. S. Army Missile Command, Nike-X Project Office and the Army Missile and Munitions Center and School. The talk is in keeping with the Missile Command's emphasis on its Equal Employment Opportunity Program.

Dr. Henderson has done considerable research in the area of employment and economic problems of Negroes. He is the author of numerous publications, including

"Principles of Economics" (1959), "Economic Status of Negroes" (1963), and Negro Employment in Tennessee State Government" (1965).

As a recognized and distinguished economist, he has served in the Office of Economic Opportunity and on task forces which prepare papers for White House Conferences on race relations in employment. In November, 1966, he was named to the President's Commission on Rural Poverty.

A native of Bristol, Tenn., he received the BS Degree from North Carolina College in Durham in 1947 with a major in business administration and economics. He received the master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees in economics from Iowa State University.

USUAL HOBBY

Leo Kimmet, a chemist at the Army Materiel Command's Pueblo Army Depot, collects and restores old phonographs. Most of his present collection, consisting of more than 70 machines, is on display in Cripple Creek during the summer months. Remaining active in such a hobby has led to many friendships in almost every state and contact with collectors in Japan, New Zealand and England.

Conferences Crowd Agenda In Research, Development

Employees of the Army Missile Command's Research and Development Directorate have a full conference schedule for March.

Among those who are "on the road" this month is Mrs. Shelba P. Brown, a chemist in the Structures and Mechanics Laboratory's Materials Engineering and Development Branch, who left Sunday for Los Angeles where she will present a technical paper at the 23rd annual Conference on Deterioration Prevention and Corrosion Control.

Mrs. Brown's paper, entitled "Detection of Flaws in Metal Honeycomb Structures by Liquid Crystals," will be heard by members of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers, the sponsoring organization for the week-long conference.

Last week, on March 8, Thomas G. Wetheral, an aerospace engineer and team leader in the Control Systems Branch of the Army Inertial Guidance and Control Laboratory and Center, addressed the Tullahoma Chapter of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics at Tullahoma, Tenn.

Wetheral's talk was entitled, "Fluidics—State of the Art."

Dr. Alfred C. Daniel, a research physicist assigned to the Physical Sciences Laboratory and who is presently on leave serving as Visiting Associate Professor of Physics at the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo., will attend the American Physical Society Meeting in Chicago on March 27-30.

Following the meeting, Dr. Daniel will visit Redstone for discussions on magnetic resonance prior to returning to Boulder.

On March 27, Dr. Thomas A. Barr, Jr., Chief of the Plasma Physics Branch of the Physical Sciences Laboratory will leave for Stanford University, Stanford, Calif., to attend the 8th Symposium on Engineering Aspects of Magnetohydrodynamics.

Dr. Barr has been invited to present a technical paper entitled "Multiple Arc Performance in an 8,000 KW Plasma Facility," during the Symposium.

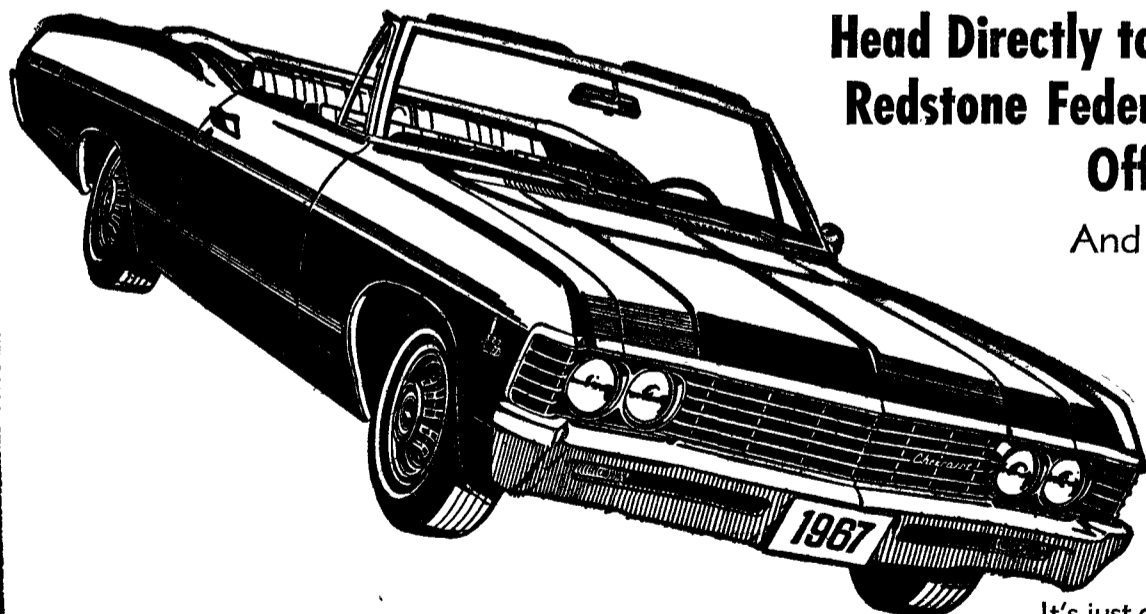

DEPOT DONATES SLED

Fort Wingate Army Depot, an Army Materiel Command installation, recently donated a rocket sled to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D. C., which has placed it on permanent exhibit for its historical value. This is one of the original rocket-powered sleds used by Dr. (Colonel) John Paul Stapp in his quest to determine the number of "G's" (gravity forces) the human body can endure. In the test, Colonel Stapp reached a speed of 632 MPH with a gravity pull of 39 "G's."

Ninety Graduate From School Friday

More than 90 men from Germany and the United States were told at graduation ceremonies at the U. S. Army Missile & Munitions Center & School Friday, that their "readiness" is vital in the overall defense picture.

The graduates were addressed by LTC. William H. Fogel, Senior Research Analyst, Missile and Munitions, Combat Developments Command Maintenance Agency at Redstone Arsenal.

Stressing the need for missile and munitions men to be professionally "ready", Col. Fogel said, "Without your service, missile systems may not operate and enemy aircraft may prove decisive in a battle. Nor can you shoot back without ammunition or with ammunition that is unsafe," he said. Never underestimate your essentiality no matter how small your task seems to you," he cautioned.

William T. Weissinger, President, Tennessee Valley Chapter, Association of the U. S. Army presented six AUSA educational achievement certificates to graduates with averages of 96 or better.

They were (all Privates) Donald W. Almquist 96.9; William D. Leak 96.3; Robert N. Martin 98.8;

Jack B. Rhoden 97.4; Gayle Schwantes 97.5; and Matthew J. Wormsley Jr., 96.0.

Other honor graduates included: PFC Stanley A. Fish, PFC Curtis J. Bundy, PFC Thomas R. Allen, Pvt. Christopher Sherburne, SP5 William F. Duncan, Pvt. Carl L. Thomas, PFC Wayne C. Garwold and Pvt. Thomas Dranger.

Second Round Of Pershing Missiles Fired At Blanding

Three Pershing missiles carrying flares were scheduled for launch Monday night, March 13, at the Blanding Test Site in Utah.

This was the second round in this series of Pershing firings launched from the Utah site. The first missile Monday was scheduled for launch soon after dark with the second to follow a half hour later and the third about an hour after the second.

Seventh Army troops fired the first two missiles and troops from the Federal Republic of Germany fired the third.

All three missiles carry "poppy-flares" to aid cameras in tracking their pyrotechnics. As the non-explosive warhead section of the needle-nosed Pershings re-enters the atmosphere over White Sands Missile Range some 400 miles away a series of flares ignite.

Ability of the flares depend upon atmospheric conditions at the time. Under certain atmospheric conditions the flares may be visible hundreds of miles from the White Sands impact area.

Air and ground safety, data gathering and recovery support for the firing is provided by White Sands Missile Range.

The two-stage quick reaction system is managed for the Army Missile Command by the Pershing Project Office. Lt. Col. Edwin Rudd is Project Manager.

Off-Post Training Starts For Career Development

Off-post training courses continue to be an important part of the Missile Command's overall career development program with 39 civilians scheduled for enrollment in classes at military schools, and American colleges this week.

They will be away from their normal duties for periods ranging from two days to 14 weeks under the sponsorship of the program that is administered by the Training and Development Division of Civilian Personnel.

Almost half of the total number are spending this week and next in Atlanta where 15 locals are taking a course in Personnel Management for Executives at the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel facility.

Included in this group are Shirley Miller and John Lynch, Chief Counsel, Dana Sperr and Curtis Williams, Proc. & Prod., Gerald Myers and Walter Landes, Sup & Maint, Elmer Hargis and Don Herwig, DASO, George Stewart, Res & Dvmt, Delbert Spears, Eq Empl Ofcr, Robert Black, Qual & Rel Mgmt, Fred Cheplen, Shillelagh, Paul Barney, Hercules, Paul Teal, Nike-X, and Robert Blessing, MMCS.

Dale Hallmark, MMCS, is at the AMC Ammunition School, Savannah, Ill., for the Basic Ammunition Inspector course, and Lester Mitchell, DASO, is staying on the Arsenal for the Common Block Training course at the Missile and Munitions School. Hallmark will be away for 15 weeks, one more than Mitchell.

Burris Hankins, Inst & Svs, James Osterman, MMCS, and Leon Riley, R&D, are enrolled for the Nuclear Weapons Safety course at the AMC Field Safety Agency in Charlestown, Ind.

Another eight Redstone civilians left for Rock Island, Ill., for training courses at the U. S. Army Management Engineering Training Agency. Included are Charles Colvard, DASO, who is attending the Defense Computer Seminar.

Marvin Knight, MMCS, is taking Introduction to Automatic Data Processing Systems, and William Haley, P&P, is enrolled for Statistical Quality Control.

The other five are attending the Top Management Seminar. They are Alfred Stevens, Lance, James Little, C&DP, Donald W. Howard, Hercules, Fred Babes, Admin Of- fice, and Herman Combs, P&P.

Robert Stephenson is at Ft. Lee, Va., for the Defense International Logistics Management course at the Army's Logistics Management Center, and Charles Bucy, Inst & Svs, is taking Radiological Safety at the Army Chemical School, Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Peggye Beck, F&A, is studying Military Accounting at the Finance School, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and Johnnie Lynch, Msl

Intell, is at the School of Systems & Logistics, Wright-Patterson AF Base, Ohio, for Scientific and Technical Information.

Dr. W. W. Carter, the Command's Chief Scientist, is spending this week with the Air Force at Whitman AFB, Mo., and Little Rock AFB, Ark. He is attending Phase IV—Missile and Space Indoctrination Program.

Thomas Ross and Robert Powell, both of P&P, and Bobby Ingram, ADCCS, are in Washington for the Defense Procurement Executive Refresher course offered by Naval Materiel.

Hazel Sasser and James Wilson, DASO, are taking Telephone Equipment Survey Training with the General Services Administration in Nashville and William Sellers, DASO, is in Los Angeles for Multi-region Boundary Value Problems at the University of California.

Combat Development Will Exhibit Mission Mar. 27

The story of the U. S. Army Combat Developments Command is told in a touring exhibit which will be on display at Redstone Arsenal March 27 through 30.

Entitled TODAY'S VISION — TOMORROW'S VICTORY, the mobile van exhibit highlights CDC's main mission—to provide the Army Chief of Staff with answers to three questions: How should the Army fight? How should the Army be equipped? How should the Army be organized?

These questions are answered for viewers by means of a motion picture, color slide show, animated and technimated panels, and colorful photo-artwork.

The van will be at five different locations throughout the week which will be announced in next week's Rocket.

Drive Safely

Dr. Sayles To Address Chemists In Shreveport

Dr. David C. Sayles, Army Missile Command, spoke to the Ark-La-Tex Section, American Chemical Society yesterday in Shreveport. Dr. Sayles' lecture was on "The Chemistry Involved in Rocket Propellants."

Dr. David Sayles is a member of the U. S. Army Rocket Propulsion Technology and Management Center, U. S. Army Missile Command. Dr. Sayles began his employment at Redstone Arsenal in 1958. Prior to this, he served the U. S. Air Force in various technical positions. Before that, he was Deputy Director of Research at the Lowe Bros. Co. and was also Head of the Department of Chemistry of Ferris Institute.

He has been the co-author of several textbooks, and has published over 150 technical papers, filed 32 invention disclosures, and received several incentive awards.
